"This event provides relevant, deeply researched data mixed with a highly interactive environment that I use daily to drive my business' direction and growth. This is highly valuable and we will be back, every year."

- Phil Stearns, Stevens Aerospace

About

The JETNET iQ Global Business Aviation Summit is a premier, industry-leading event that brings together a distinguished group of leaders from the business aircraft, aero-engine, and supplier sectors—individuals at the forefront of business model innovation and technological advancement. Key topics of discussion include sustainability, supply and demand dynamics, next-generation data solutions, R&D, and emerging business models, among others. Attendees have the unique opportunity to hear from top professionals across all facets of the business aviation industry, including analysts, bankers, brokers, wealth consultants, attorneys, sales and marketing experts, C-suite executives, and more. We extend our heartfelt thanks to our generous sponsors for enabling us to deliver this exceptional event year after year.
